DIY Structured Wiring

March 15, 2008

Tom-

I just wanted to take a minute and express my appreciation to you for the great help you have been in getting the wiring done in my new home. As you know, when I initially talked with you regarding the project, I was concerned that I wanted to get the design of the system right, so that I could make sure I had all of my bases covered. I was intrigued by the concept you offered as I had done a little wiring by myself, but not a whole home by any means. I also realized the savings that I could have by installing the wire by myself. I was impressed that not only did I get the design I needed, the price for the terminated wiring and access to your expertise was so reasonable that I would have been a fool not to buy from you. I certainly appreciate your willingness to work out the shipping as well to get it to me quickly so I could get it all in before the insulation.

The design seems to be perfect at this point and the installation went without any major issue, other than the fact that I ran so much wire I was dreaming about it. I really appreciated that you were there to talk to through every question that I had. This certainly helped in some of those tricky spots. Everybody that has been in my house before the sheet rock was put up commented on the wiring. I am really looking forward to finishing the project when the house is done.

Thanks again for all of your help, I really appreciate it and certainly look forward to working with you in the future.

Best Regards,
